Joachim Byczek and Lucy (Łucja) Kwilosz were married on 1/30/1804 at the Catholic church located in Osobnica in southeastern Poland.

Joachim was born about 1783 and Lucy about 1787. The baptism records for the Osobnica Church are not easily accessible for those years and may not even exist. Their place of birth is also unknown, but Lucy was most likely born in Osobnica. There were multiple Byczek families in Osobnica at the time, which strongly suggests that Joachim was also born in the village.

Joachim Byczek's parents and siblings are unknown. Lucy Kwilosz's parents were Thaddeus (Tadeusz) Kwilosz and Frances (Franciszka) Czarnecki. The maiden name of Frances was most likely either Czarniecki or Czarnecki based upon how the feminine form of the name was written.

There is uncertainty about whether the Kwilosz family changed their name from Acela to Kwilosz around the time that Lucy was born. That particular spelling seems unusual since it has a Latin, Italian, or Spanish origin.

Joachim Byczek and Lucy Kwilosz had three known children who were born at House #118 Osobnica from 1809-1813. John (Jan) Kwilosz owned House #118, as shown in the 1788 and 1820 land records (included in a separate documentary). The records show that Joachim Byczek became co-owner with Jan Kwilosz. The Byczek family inherited full ownership of the farm by the 1850s. Joachim and Lucy Byczek's great-grandson Martin Byczek was born at House #118 in 1877. He is Michael E. Byczek's great-grandfather.

It is unclear whether the John Kwilosz listed in the 1788 and 1820 land records was the same individual or successive owners who had the same name. The land records do not include Thaddeus Kwilosz. It is possible that John Kwilosz was Lucy's grandfather or uncle. Thaddeus Kwilosz may have already passed away.

Joachim Byczek and Lucy Kwilosz had three known children, all born at House #118:

Child	Date of Baptism	Godparents
Jacob (Jakub)	7/18/1809	Godmother is Agnes Byczek. Godfather is somewhat illegible.
Joseph (Józef)	2/14/1812	Illegible. Looks like godmother is Agatha Byczek
Sophia (Zofia)	5/8/1813	Looks like godmother is Agnes Byczek

Records for this time period did not include the date of birth.

Their son Jacob Byczek married Catherine (Katarzyna) Dybas in 1842, which was his second marriage. They are Michael E. Byczek's 3x-great-grandparents.

Joachim Byczek passed away in 1829 at House #118 on 10/15/1829.

Lucy (Kwilosz) Byczek married Frank (Franciszek) Janiga on 10/24/1830 in Osobnica. He was from House #119 and had not previously been married. His parents were Adalbert and Catherine Janiga (maiden name is slightly illegible). Lucy was 41 and Frank was 30 years old.

Neither Lucy nor Frank Janiga's death records have been verified. It is unknown, at present, whether they had any children.

Jacob Byczek married his first wife in 1830. Christopher (Krzysztof) Dybas was named in the records as Jacob's guardian. His father Joachim Byczek had passed away the year before. His mother remarried a few months after Jacob was married. Therefore, Lucy was a widow at the time. It is unclear why Christopher Dybas would have been held in such a high family status. It's possible that either Jacob Byczek or Lucy Kwilosz may have had a sister who married Christopher Dybas, who would have been Jacob's uncle through marriage. It is also possible that either Joachim Byczek or Lucy Kwilosz had a half-brother. This may explain why Jacob's second wife was Catherine Dybas. It is interesting to note that Christopher Dybas was a witness to Lucy (Kwilosz) Byczek's marriage in 1830. This means that Christopher Dybas was a witness twice in the same year. The first time was as a guardian for Jacob. The second was as a standard witness to Jacob's mother.

Paul (Paweł) Byczek was a witness to Joachim Byczek and Lucy Kwilosz's marriage. Agnes (Agnieszka) Byczek was a godmother twice and Agatha (Agata) Byczek once for the children of Joachim and Lucy Byczek. It is unknown whether these women were married (i.e. whether their maiden name was Byczek). It is also unknown whether the same Agnes Byczek served as godmother twice or whether two different women with the same name served once. It is reasonable to conclude that these were Joachim's siblings (or the wife of a brother).
